Areas of Good Practice

7a. Are there are particular features of student assessment that you would like to highlight as being innovative?

None.

7b. Are there are any particular areas of good practice in relation to standards and assessment processes that would be worthy of dissemination to a wider audience?

Staff members give students all opportunity to perform well in their presentations. The questions asked at the end give the opportunity for students to get all of the relevant points across as well as being able to clarify anything that was not as clear as it could be in the main presentation. The supportive approach taken is to be commended.

Other Comments
